SCHOOL NEWS:

From the Principal

Wow -- what an auction event last Saturday night. I was stunned and amazed at the level of generosity our community showed towards Coe. It was overwhelming. Thank you, thank you, for your continued support of our amazing school. Everyone had fun eating, dancing, and celebrating together. Thank you to our amazing auction chairs, Shawn Perkins, Tracy Arntz, and Kristi Kemp.

A summary of the Magnolia Boundary Community Input Meeting on Monday, March 13th: Give input we did! The district estimated there were over 250 community members present. While the district proposed several boundary options, it was the idea that Queen Anne Elementary (currently an option school) be designated a neighborhood school, and that the area option school be housed in the new Magnolia building that had the most vocal supporters. We will see how that idea moves forward. The Queen Anne Elementary community needs to be brought on board and provide their input, of course. While their principal was present at the meeting, members of their parent community were not present. There will be another community input meeting this spring. We will advertise that meeting once we learn the date, location, and time.

If you would like to provide input to the district about boundaries or Queen Anne Elementary as a neighborhood school, email growthboundaries@seattleschools.org or schoolboard@seattleschools.org.

Next week's From the Principal will provide some specifics about Coe's configuration, staffing, and budget for next year. Be sure to read it.

With students and capacity in mind,

Virginia
